Department of English

An Extension Lecture Organized by the Department of English

A detailed Extension Lecture followed by a series of question on the topic 'Armed Conflict and Peace Process in South Asia' was organized in the College by the Department of English under the aegis of Prof Javed Mughal Head of Department and the kind patronage of Prof S H Shah- The Principal of the College. Dr Mohd Farrukh from United Kingdom was invited to deliver a comprehensive discourse on the subject. Dr Farurukh revealed that while the armed conflicts in the recent years have become bloodier in South Asia, the peace processes could not be sustained for various factors. Initiating a peace process is easier than to sustain it. In the last few years, a series of peace processes have been initiated in South Asia in Pakistan, Kashmir, Nepal, India's Northeast and Sri Lanka. The presence of numerous actors, role of civil society, space and rules of bargaining, lack of bargaining tools, independent inputs or the lack of it, level of external support, all these factors play an important role in sustaining the peace processes. The above two factors continuing armed conflicts and failing peace processes, make it imperative to initiate an organized, long term but independent study of the armed conflicts and peace processes in South Asia. He stressed that a database on armed conflicts in South Asia is essential for such a study. The Institute of Peace and Conflict Studies (IPCS) propose to create such a database on armed conflicts and peace processes in South Asia. This book is a primary part of this endeavor and is published as an annual on the various conflicts in Pakistan, India, Nepal, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka. The following case studies would form the core essays of the annual Waziristan, Balochistan, Jammu & Kashmir. India's Northeast, Naxalities in India, Nepal, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka. In future, the study would also cover the armed conflict in Afghanistan. Dr Farrukh replied pertinently to several queries posed by the audience from faculty and the civil society as well. Several other speakers spoke on the occasion including Prof M K Waqar, Dr. A Q Khan, Prof Assadullah Khan, Prof MoHD Iqbal Raina. The Principal presided over the Extension Lecture and while concluding Prof S H Shah-the Principal expressed his views on the world peace in general and the peace plight in South Asia. Prof Shah talked at length about the Cult of Clash of Civilisations going on the world at the moment actively followed by the Western World to render a setback to oriental region. Prof Javed Mughal Head of Department conducted the proceedings of the Lecture and Prof Mohd Iqbal Raina read of the vote of thanks as well.

The department of English arranged an Interaction with the students of Semester 1 & III at the outset of the academic session just to orient them to act responsibly in the college during the session. Certain norms were read out to them to be followed and they were educated about their duties and rights on the campus. Prof Javed Mughal with the entire staff of his department made this Inter-active gathering feasible under the stewardship of Prof S H Shah-the Principal of the College. The Interactive session was started with an elaborate speech of Prof Javed Mughal who enlightened the students of First Semester about a major difference in between the College and the School environment. Prof Javed Mughal manifested it upon them that the College life demands certain duties from the students and their cooperation quite different from that of School. He also warned the students to think of their near future which is getting tougher and tougher day by day. Subsequently Prof S H Shah spoke at length to the students and shared many meaningful and significant concerns with them. Prof S H Shah while quoting many great men of the yore made the students realize that this college belongs to the students in fact so they are supposed to take of it. He impressed upon the students to keep the environment around neat and clean since it impacts the very life of the people living in it. Prof S H Shah advised the students to avoid mobile phones on the campus, not to litter on the campus, not to bunk the classes, stop indulging into time wasting habits, to participate in the extra-curricular activities in the College, observe punctuality and regularity and behave honestly towards them and their teachers as well since it will pay them fruitfully. Prof Shah impressed upon the students to be dedicated and devoted towards their mission to make their future brilliant and their parents proud. All the staff of the college were present on the occasion including Dr. Shameem Azad, Prof Assadullah Khan, Prof Bashir Ahmed, Prof Farooq Mirza, Prof Zamir Mirza, Prof Netar Prakash, Prof M I Raina, Prof Mohd Saleem Wani, Prof Nazakat Qureshi, Prof Ghulam Abbas, Prof Rahila Mushtaq and Prof Asia Bhat

The first ever Examinations of Ad-On Courses: 12-11-2016

The first ever examination of Add-On Courses in Journalism, Tourism Management and Functional English, since their inception in the College due to the strenuous efforts of Prof S H Shah-the Principal, were no less than life-long dream come true. The examinations were conducted well in time and a heavy bulk of students qualified for the certificates in Journalism, Tourism Management and Functional English. Subsequently a grand Certificate Distribution Function was organized in the College to give away certificates to the students. There were about twenty students who bagged A+ grade and the certificates were conferred on them at this function which was actually organized for them. Sh. Vobodh Gupta was the Chief Guest on the occasion and Prof S H Shah-the Principal of the College presided over the proceedings of the function. Several dignitaries of the civil society were also invited to the show and all the staff and students of the College also displayed their presence to beautify the programme.

This show indeed worked a lot to get across an awakening among the students of the College in general and the outsiders in particular about the significance of these Add-On Courses in the present day society. It was in fact a step to render a practical shape to the Govt. policy of encouraging such courses with professional importance and capacity to remove the anathema of unemployment from the society.

Gandhi Jiyanti Celebrated in Class-rooms: 02-10-2017

Quite in a non-conventional fashion, the Department of English celebrated Gandhi Jiyanti not at one fore-ordained venue but in all the class-rooms. It was done with the intention to communicate the message of Gandhi Ji to as many students as possible. The fact remains that when such a big and celebration message of Violence one intention to students as purposeful with a great Truth and Non-takes place at particular place, most of the students either miss the opportunity to attend it for no on-time information or they, being innocent, bunk such meaningful programmes. Hence it was decided by the department not to confine the celebration of Gandhi Jiyanti to one Auditorium (which otherwise also does not afford to accommodate the total strength of the students) but spread this celebration in class-rooms and make the maximum number of students well- acquainted with the Gandhian message. The students were prepared and deputed to all the classes to deliver lectures and the teachers were also invited to share their valuable views with the tots regarding life and contribution of M K Gandhi. The Department also invited the Guest Speakers from the other departments of the College to enlighten the students about the theme of celebration. Prof Mohd Iqbal Raina from the Department of Physics and Prof Amit Bhalla from the Department of Political Science were invited to talk to the students regarding Gandhian viewpoint on Truth and Non-Violence.

National Voters Day Observed by Department of English: 25-12-2017

The Department of English observed National Voters' Day and organized a series of lectures in all the classes to let the young brains know that the significance of this day is to encourage youngsters, who have reached the age of 18, of the country to participate in the electoral process, by enrolling or registering themselves in electoral rolls and to exercise their franchise. Prof S H Shah- The Principal also accompanied the faculty of the English Department to almost all the classes and told the students to make a judicious use of their votes in the country. Talking about serious issues faced by the country at the moment, Prof S H Shah told the student that there is an unavoidable need to bring about a constructive change in the governmental mechanism by deputing even minded and public oriented representatives to the state assemblies and the Parliaments as well. Prof Javed Mughal encouraged the students to actively participate in the electoral process and use the power of vote since a single vote can bring make or mar the entire democratic system of country. Prof Mughal impressed upon the students neither to remain away from the Polling Booths during elections nor to be influenced by the incompetent and corrupt contestants and make the well-thought choice of their representative. Prof Saleem Wani while talking the very thematic crux of the Voters Day said the youth of the country have a major role to play in the desirable orientation of the nation. He revealed that the success and progress of the country depends on the shoulders of the youth provided they make a display of their responsible approach during the elections in the country. Several others among which Prof Amit Bhalla was of the view that the electoral process is only power which comes once in 5 or 6 years to be exercised by the people and it become the moral, ethical and legal duty of every citizen to use this power for the best nation and citizens a well.
